International Literature Festival Dublin is a programme of the City Arts Office, part of the Culture, Recreation & Economic Services Department of Dublin City Council (Chief Executive Owen P. Keegan, Assistant Chief Executive Richard Shakespeare). The work of Dublin, Alison Gilliland, and the members of Dublin City Council.

For 11 days, we'll play host to authors, translators, artists, performers, journalists and more in a global gathering of minds for all ages to enjoy. Within this oasis of tranquillity, surrounded on all sides by rich cultural and literary history, our new festival village will become a place to discover and delight, to debate and discuss. Read on to discover a programme of over 150+ events with national and international guests like Cecelia Aherne, Miko Kawakami, Ardal O'Hanlon, Karen M. McManus, Richard Dawkins, Jennifer Egan, Derek Landy, and many more. And while most of this year's events will be taking place in-person, keep an eye out for a selection of live-streamed events to enjoy from the comfort of your own home. Visit ilfdublin.com to view events that are being live-streamed.

On an island of storytellers and in a city where books are treasured, International Literature Festival Dublin is Ireland's leading literary event. Since 1998, the International Literature Festival Dublin has been celebrating stories, and this year we are delighted to invite you to join us in one of Dublin city's most beautiful Georgian squares, Merrion Square Park, as we mark our silver anniversary.
